Biddeford Basketball Wall of Honor

Mission Statement:

The Wall of Honor recognizes memorable moments when Biddeford basketball players displayed a remarkable unselfishness and team first mentality to make their team and this program better. These moments are so critical to the growth of this program, that these moments should be remembered, honored, and known to our current Biddeford basketball players. A plaque for each player is located in the boys locker room.

Wall of Honor

Mission Statement:

The Wall of Honor recognizes memorable moments when Biddeford basketball players displayed a remarkable unselfishness and team first mentality to make their team and this program better. The moments are so critical to the growth of this program, that these moments should be remembered, honored, and known to current Biddeford basketball players.

Established June 2018

“What can I do to help the team in practice?”

Sr. Dillon Boutin (2015-2016)

Theme: SERVANT LEADERSHIP

Quote: “I will ask not what the Biddeford basketball program, coaches, and teammates can do for me, but rather what I can do for my Biddeford basketball program, coaches, and teammates”.

Story: During a 1-17 season, we were about 1-8. Sr. Dillon Boutin was not in the playing rotation and a first year varsity player. After a practice during the week before leaving for the locker room, Dillon came over and wanted to talk. It was not about playing time or how many shots he was getting. He said to me, “Coach, what can I do to help this team improve during practice time?” I was shocked by the question because I was expecting the normal, “Coach, why am I not getting any minutes?” Or, “Coach, what can I do to get more minutes?” Nothing about him and all about the team and program. He did this when we weren’t 8-1, but 1-8!

In a later game at Sanford, Dillon got in for the last 2 minutes of the game in a blowout. Dillon would go on to make 3 consecutive three pointers. He forced me to play him more. He wasn’t sour about when he was playing, he took advantage of it. He played in both halves for the rest of the season.

I would nominate Dillon Boutin for the Varsity Maine Awards for Unsung Hero, and he would be selected as a finalist. Dillon would be awarded the Tiger Pride Award as a Senior.

Making an Individual Change For the Team

Sr. Zach Reali (2017-2018)

Theme: ROLE

Quote: "I will accept my role, fulfill my role, and embrace my role"

Story: The 2017-18 season was not a great start for Zach as there was a verbal exchange after our first preseason scrimmage of the year (this story will be discussed later). Zach could be negative in losses or things not going well, and was focused on individual accomplishments. After a needed coach/player meeting, we saw a new player in Zach and more importantly a new teammate in Zach. He accepted his role, he focused on the team achievements first, and he was positive, always being the first to give a high five.

This was Zach's comment in the Press Herald after his tip-in buzzer beater vs. Brunswick in the Quarterfinals. Zach went into the game with only 2 minutes left because of foul trouble and made an impact.

"I noticed my guy didn't crash (the boards), so I went in and got it and put it up," said Reali, a senior who finished with three points. "I'm just a role player, so I figured (when I went in) that I would do my role, like hand the ball off to the guards and set screens."

Zach would go on to win our most prestigious award of the season, the Hard Hat Award for best teammate of the season. And his tip in buzzer beater in the playoffs would win Play of the Year at the Varsity Maine Awards.

How tough can I coach you? How quick is your next play speed?

Jr. Carter Edgerton (2017-2018)

Theme: R FACTOR (Next Play Speed)

Quote: “If I can't coach you, I can't play you.” - John Calipari

Story: Late during the 2017-18 season at Noble, Carter is playing defense and his on ball defense on his player was not what it needs to be. On a play in the second half, the Noble player drives by Carter and draws the foul. As teams set-up for a foul shot, the coaches decide a change needs to be made in match-ups. I yell out to Kyle Norton, “Kyle, you take #22.” Carter immediately turns to Kyle and asks, “Kyle, what number were you guarding?”

First, this is a perfect example of Next Play Speed. No time to pout, feel sorry for yourself, or make excuses. It is time to think about the next offensive and defensive possession as quickly as we can.

Second, this is being extremely coachable. I did not have to worry about Carter's “feelings”. I was able to coach him quickly and efficiently. I did not have to explain to him why. And if he did not know, he knew that was not the time to discuss, after the game or before next practice would be the appropriate time.

Carter Edgerton would go on to win the Hard Hat Award (best teammate) for three out of four seasons, and start for all four years.

Team/Program First Above Everything Else

Sr. Nate Boutin (2017-2018)

Theme: SERVANT LEADERSHIP; ROLE

Quote: “In the end, your team doesn’t care if you are a superstar. They care if you are a super teammate.”

Story: During a thrilling 5 OT win vs. Marshwood, this player’s parent was sitting behind the home bench. This player was not going in for the start of the 4th quarter with some younger guys getting some more playing minutes. His parent was sitting behind our bench and said at one point during the game to the player, “You going to keep sitting on the bench?” Nate responded to the parent during the 4th quarter break, “If you don’t like it, then you can leave!”

The ultimate team first comment. The player put his team, coaching staff, and his role all above his personal goals and even his family wants. When I told this story by our coaching staff after the game, there was a tremendous amount of respect and gratitude to this player for sticking up for his teammates and coaches.

Now, his minutes did not increase because of this or gained respect of the player as a person, because ultimately your given talent is a major factor.

Winning the game is more important than my individual stats

Jr. Cody Saucier (2017-2018)

Theme: MOTIVATION

Quote: "In the end, your team doesn't care if you are a superstar. They care if you are a super teammate."

Story: On a road game at Falmouth with the Tigers looking for their 9th win on the season, Cody Saucier was leading the team in scoring with over 13 points a game. Cody Saucier did not take one shot in the first half, our leading scorer. To be honest, it is actually bad coaching. But by the way Cody played on offense and defense, you would never know!!! His energy and commitment never changed. You could not tell whether he had zero points or twenty points, it was all about what can I do to help this team win the game?

Cody would later score his only basket on a big three pointer to put the Tigers up 6 with 2 minutes left.

Cody would go to be the team MVP, selected to 3rd team all-SMAA, and lead the team in points.

Players taken leadership and ownership of team

Sr. Jackson Oloya (2017-2018)

Theme: ACCOUNTABILITY & FUNDAMENTAL

Quote: “On good teams, coaches hold players accountable, on great teams players hold players accountable.”
– Joe Dumars

Story: After the first preseason scrimmage, a teammate went negative in the locker room before the coaches entered the room for post game talk. Jackson said no, that would not be ok this season. Jackson stood up for the team and did not want to have this type of energy on this team. This moment was a turning point for this team. In the end, he made a teammate become a better teammate and set the tone for the season that the players were going to hold each other accountable to the wants of the coaching staff.

This moment was the starting point of Zach Reali winning the Hard Hat Award at the end of the season.

Jackson Oloya would later go on to win the SMAA Defensive Player of the Year Award, which is the only time in SMAA history that a Biddeford player won the award.

FUNDAMENTAL: Jackson Oloya did not play meaningful varsity minutes until their Senior year. Yet it never changed their attitude or commitment to getting better. He swung down to JV, they played in summer JV games as a Junior to continue to improve their game. He was entitled to nothing, yet earned everything.

Rewards take time, patience, and hard work

Sr. Jerome Criado (2017-2018)

Theme: FUNDAMENTAL

Quote: Alan Stein: “You’re the best player in the world. Why do such basic stuff?” Kobe Bryant’s response: “Why do you think I am the best player in the world? Because I never get bored with the basics!”

Story: Jerome Criado (as well as Jackson Oloya) did not play meaningful varsity minutes until their Senior year. Yet it never changed his attitude or commitment to getting better. He swung down to JV, he played in summer JV games as a Junior to continue to improve his game. He was entitled to nothing. He just kept working at their game until it was his moment. And when his moment came, he was ready because he prepared for it since Freshman year by being a great practice and drill player. He never complained one time.

In his senior year, Jerome was magnificent. Jerome would hit essentially 2 game winners (including one vs. rival TA) and be a Finalist for the Varsity Maine Awards “Beyond the Box Score”. Jerome would be awarded the 2017-18 Team Unsung Hero Award for his play coming off the bench and clutch shots all season in the big moments. Jackson Oloya would win the SMAA Defensive Player of the Year Award which is the only time in SMAA history that a Biddeford player won the award.

Being the Positive Teammate During the Tough Moments

Sr. DeSean Cromwell (2017-2018)

Theme: TOGETHERNESS

Quote: "If you're complaining you're not leading. Leaders don't complain. They share a vision. They inspire optimism. They focus on solutions." - Jon Gordon

Story: During the early season I challenged DeSean. DeSean had embraced his teammates during a timeout in a game where we were leading. I appreciated his team first attitude but wanted something more. I challenged him to give that same positive energy during a tough moment when our backs were against the wall. Every teammate can be positive during the good moments, the special ones are positive even during the struggles. The picture above was a photo taken during the 4th Quarter intermission. We were on the road, not playing great, and trailing a good Kennebunk team by six points.

DeSean rose to the challenge here and brought his teammates together, providing the positive energy we needed at the time. We would later pull off the comeback winning by three points and winning our 11th game of the year.

DeSean would win our Most Improved Player for the 2017-18 season.

Gain Any Advantage Over Your Opponent & NO EXCUSES!!

Kurtis Edgerton (2017-2020)

Theme: INTEGRITY & SELF-AWARENESS

Quote: “Hard work beats talent when talent fails to work hard.” & “Making excuses is like throwing up. It makes you feel better, but it makes everyone else feel worse.”

INTEGRITY: Being an ultimate competitor takes on the prospect that you try to find any advantage you can over an opponent. You are always game ready. Kurtis, who swung down to JV, would watch the Freshmen officials to see how they would call the block/charge call. Once he knew his answer, then he would adjust for his upcoming JV game. His mind was focused on the task at hand way before the game even started.

Kurtis would go on to lead the entire program in offensive charges taken for the 2017-18 season.

SELF-AWARENESS: Providence team camp 2019, our team had just lost to Brunswick in the semifinals of the Varsity small division. Kurtis played a lot of point guard that game, and struggled getting us set up in our offense and had some turnovers. Usually when this happens, players will look for excuses of why they had a tough game. It is a way to make themselves feel better and take the blame off of their shoulders. For example, “the refs did not call anything, I was getting hand checked the entire time” or “nobody was getting open”. But Kurtis did not go that route. Kurtis was going to be self-aware of what he needs to work on to get better and be accountable for his actions and play. Kurtis’s remark was not made directly to me but I overheard him say this, “I need to work on my ball handling.” Simple comment where he took accountability for his play and didn’t make excuses.

Actions Speak Louder than Words

Sr. Austin Dutremble (2016-2017)

Theme: ATTITUDE

Quote: "I will leave the Biddeford basketball program better than I found it."

Story: (From Press Herald)

In Austin Dutremble's first three seasons, Biddeford went 0-18, 1-17 and 1-17. That's 2-52. As a 5-foot-8 freshman, Dutremble was the best option at power forward, a position he continued to play.

"Anyone can be a good teammate when you win," said Justin Tardif, Biddeford's basketball coach, who nominated Dutremble for the award. "He was always a good teammate. He was like the rock in our program and he kept other kids positive." In basketball, the Tigers were much improved, going 8-11 and losing a quarterfinal game to Falmouth. Known as a defender and hustle guy, Dutremble scored 26 points in a key win against Cape Elizabeth. "It was so tough those first three years," Dutremble said. "It was a great feeling to finally get noted for all of our hard work." Dutremble, ranked 10th in his graduating class, will stay in his hometown and study medical biology at the University of New England.

Austin would win Role Model of the Year at the Varsity Maine Awards and also be inducted into the WCSH 6 Varsity Club. These awards were because of how he handled himself during the more difficult moments in our program's history. His demeanor and positivity kept teammates and the coaching staff moving forward.

Rooting for Your Teammate's Success

Sr. Jeremy Lugiano (2015-16)

Theme: ROLE; ATTITUDE

Quote: "In the end, your team doesn't care if you are a superstar. They care if you are a super teammate." & "I will accept my role, fulfill my role, and embrace my role"

Story: After a 0-4 start to the 2015-2016 season, the Tigers coaching staff decided to make a couple of changes to the starting line-ups. Out would be two starters, and in would be a freshman and sophomore. The two younger players had been showing enough in practice and games to warrant a change. As I called Jeremy into the office to discuss the role change, I knew it would not be an easy position for him. He was losing his starting position to a freshman and the timing of the change would seem to place blame on him for the 0-4, which was not the case. As I discussed the role change with Jeremy, one comment left an impression on me. Jeremy said he would help Carter out as much as possible for me to be successful. He helped Carter out in games of what he saw and always made Carter feel he was rooting 100% for his success.

Jeremy would win our Tiger Pride Character Award as a Junior and when an opening was available at the middle school coaching level in our program, Jeremy was the first person who came to mind.

FINDING A WAY TO MAKE A POSITIVE IMPACT

Theme: Role, Servant Leadership

Quote: “In the end, your team doesn’t care if you are a superstar. They care if you are a super teammate.” & “I will accept my role, fulfill my role, and embrace my role”

Story: During the previous practice scouting report review of Kennebunk, I mentioned a backdoor play which the opposing team likes to run out of timeouts and start of quarters. Trailing by nine points at half, and Kennebunk’s ball to start the half, our team left the huddle to start the third quarter. Kennebunk was set up for their backdoor play. I failed to notice it, but Sr. Alex Thurlow was locked in to the game. He realized the play and reminded me from the bench of the backdoor play call. I was able to communicate to our team about the play, saving us two points to start the 3rd quarter.

The remarkable part of this story is that Alex had not played yet in the game and if the game remained close probably would not. But that did not impact Alex’s attention to detail, focus, or his support for his teammates during the game. Alex remained focused and locked in from the bench, trying to help his team in any way he could. Think about this, Alex did not play a single second in the game, yet he saved us two points. This is what being a great teammate is all about, finding a way to make an impact on the game in some way. Alex did, putting his team first, rooting for his team’s success, and staying focused no matter his playing situation.

Alex made his impact on the program. He and this story will be something which is told to future Biddeford Varsity basketball players each season thereafter about what it means to be a GREAT TEAMMATE.

RELENTLESS WORK ETHIC

Theme: Effort

Quote: Sweat More - Jon Gordon The Hard Hat

Story: Will Harriman ended his career as one of the best Biddeford basketball players in recent memory. He was selected as an McDonald's All Star, entered the record books with most rebounds in a game, and will be heading to UMF to continue his basketball career. But as a sophomore this was not a lock of happening. Fortunately for Will, his work ethic and relentless effort in pursuing his goals made the difference in the player he became.

As a sophomore, Will was struggling physically with his legs and mainly played straight JV minutes as a Varsity swinger. But his mindset or attitude did not change. His work ethic or his value he put on JV minutes allowed him to improve every single day that season. These small improvements from day to day were not noticeable, until we saw Will again in the summer. Then it was clear. Will went from #9 or #10 on our depth chart to our best player. I would often come into the gym and see Will shooting by himself with some music on, just Will, the basketball, and the basket. This continual drive and effort made all the difference his Jr. year where he averaged a double double for the season and was selected as a First team Class A South SMAA player.

Will's attitude never wavered. He did not complain, whine, or get frustrated about not playing Varsity as a sophomore. He had no time for complaining, he was too busy getting shots up, working on his game, and improving. Congratulations Will and thank you for this example for future players.
